

TRADOC

Training and Doctrine Command
www-tradoc.army.mil

Commander: GEN John N. Abrams
Headquarters: Fort Monroe, Va.

Established: July 1, 1973

Mission: TRADOC is the architect for the 21st-century Army, while preparing soldiers to ensure that the Army can fight and win the nation's wars today. It does this through:

Training — Leaders and soldiers are trained at 27 service schools on 15 installations.

Doctrine — Sustains a shared vision of how the Army operates as a member of joint-service, combined-arms and multinational teams. The vision is kept relevant by leading intellectual growth.

Combat Developments — Identifies Army requirements with a spirit of innovation that will enhance the broader Army process that translates concepts and requirements to production and acquisition. To assist in these efforts, TRADOC integrates the activities of 10 battlefield laboratories, which develop and experiment with concepts in battlefield dynamics.

USAREUR

U.S. Army, Europe
www.hqusareur.army.mil

Commander: GEN Montgomery C. Meigs

Headquarters: Heidelberg, Germany
Established: 1945

Mission: As U.S. European Command's primary land component, USAREUR maintains a forward-deployed force to conduct and support joint and multinational operations; conducts engagement activities; and protects U.S. forces and resources in theater or elsewhere as directed.

Activities: USAREUR carries out operations on three continents and simultaneously acts as an agent of change for the Army. During operations in the past year, USAREUR deployed combat forces to Albania and Kosovo, protected American allies with Patriot deployments to Turkey, Israel and Saudi Arabia, and provided disaster relief in the Austrian Alps after some of the worst avalanches on record. USAREUR's 62,000 Europe-based soldiers respond rapidly to crises across the full range of military operations from Eurasia to Africa.
